Australia-Japan Foundation Publication Awards

AJF's Publication Awards support the publication of quality books related to Australian studies in Japan. These will usually be written in the Japanese language. Publication Awards are open to Japan-based academics and researchers who wish to publish works in Japan. The AJF Grant guidelines will also apply to the Publication Awards - for further detailed information, please refer to the Japanese AJF website here.

Publications should focus on issues of mutual relevance and interest relating to Australia and Japan. The awards are worth up to $10,000 per publication.

In answering the following questions, it is important to remember that applicants for a Publication Award will be selected on the basis of (i) confirmation from your Publisher that your area of research will be suitable for publication by June 2021; (ii) the extent to which this publication will contribute to and strengthen the level of knowledge and understanding of the Australia-Japan relationship; and (iii) the commitment of the author to disseminate and promote the publication widely, effectively and actively through academic and other relevant channels.

Further information can be sought from the AJF Secretariat at the Australian Embassy in Tokyo (ajf.japan@dfat.gov.au).

Project Alignment

Alignment with Australia-Japan Foundation priority areas

To achieve its objectives, the Australia-Japan Foundation aims to deliver high quality programs and projects under the following six priority areas (in alphabetical order):

Communication, Information and Advocacy: Projects will promote an accurate and positive image of Australia in Japan, highlight the enduring nature of the bilateral relationship and increase public understanding of the importance of the Australia-Japan relationship in both countries.

Economic Diplomacy and Geopolitics: Projects will facilitate informed discussion among policy-makers, business groups and academic opinion leaders on the importance and potential of the Australia-Japan business, economic and geopolitical relationships to each country. Projects will focus on the following areas:

- Promoting closer economic relations arising from the opportunities of trade agreements and their built-in agendas;
- Promoting emerging issues and trends in Australia's trade and investment relationship with Japan;
- Promoting Australian corporate reform capabilities and international business expertise in areas of interest to Japan (for example in project management and private-public partnerships);
- Promoting understanding and public awareness of Australia and Japan's shared contribution to promoting peace and stability in the region and globally; and Australia and Japan's commitment to rules and norms that promote stability, peace and prosperity.

Education and Australian studies: Projects will focus on two areas:

- The promotion of Australia's strong education and training credentials, for example, through alumni engagement and opportunities to provide in-country exposure to Australian education and training capabilities.
- Support for the teaching of Australian studies in Japan and the maintenance and expansion of Japanese academic interest and expertise on Australia.

Proposals for study tours and academic research projects, particularly those that lack a strong communications component, are generally not competitive.

Scientific innovation: Projects will focus on three areas:

Australia-Japan Foundation Application Form (archived)

Form Preview

- Exchanges between potential Australian and Japanese individual and institutional collaborators and partners in sectors that promote Australian excellence such as in innovation, science, health and technology;
- The promotion of Australian expertise in scientific research, technology and innovation, for example, through alumni engagement and public outreach activities. Projects that engage scientific and technological areas of cooperation between Australia and Japan - but are not wholly or predominantly scientific research - will be eligible for funding.
- Promotion of Australian excellence in sports medicine and other sports-related scientific innovation through exchanges.

Society, Culture and Sport: Projects under this priority will encourage new social and cultural exchange and cooperation initiatives between Australian and Japanese professional, community and other institutions including sport, local government, youth, community and not-for profit groups which highlight Australian excellence and expertise in Japan and enhances mutual understanding, friendship and respect. Projects will promote Australia as a contemporary, creative, successful, diverse and tolerant nation; and an attractive place to work, study, visit and live. Projects will also promote Japan as a highly complementary partner with shared values and interests.

Arts/culture projects would preferably be a collaboration between Australian and Japanese partners and demonstrate innovative ideas and/or approaches conceptually or in its delivery. The individual or organisation must have a proven record of quality and excellence.

Past successful applications from larger cultural festivals were able to demonstrate how their project:

- promoted the Australia-Japan relationship where it was not just an incidental part of a much broader international festival promotion
- and where AJF funding of the bilateral aspect of the program could be clearly acknowledged to AJF;
- had prospect for promoting the bilateral relationship widely particularly through media; and
- potentially could act as a catalyst for important, new relationships between Australian and Japanese collaborators.

Sports-related projects should promote Australian technical expertise. Past successful sports-related projects looked at building long-term connections, rather than just one-off exchanges.

Information

The 2020-21 Australia-Japan Foundation (AJF) Publication Award will support the publication of quality books related to Australian Studies in Japan. These publications should be written in the Japanese language although a case for a text in English may be considered by the Board of the Australia-Japan Foundation.

Publication Awards will be open to academics and researchers who are based in Japan and who wish to publish works in Japan. Publications should focus on issues of mutual relevance and interest relating to Australia and Japan.

Publications eligible for the Award include contemporary works on Australian society in areas such as: economics and trade; environment/environmental issues; ethnicities and multiculturalism; film, media and communication; history; gender studies; Indigenous Australia; the arts; literature; politics; regional and international security issues; and tourism. Other topics may be nominated.

The key objective of the Publication Awards is to deepen knowledge and understanding of the Australia-Japan relationship in Japan. Publication Award funding is intended to provide assistance for:

- books written about Australia in Japanese by academics and researchers based in Japan which are scheduled for publication;
- translation into Japanese of Australian-authored books on Australia-related issues which are scheduled for publication; and/or

Australia-Japan Foundation Application Form (archived)

- Japanese editions of books resulting from joint research by Australian and Japanese academics on Australia-related issues which are scheduled for publication.

AUD10,000 will be awarded per publication in the 2020-21 Publications Award round.

NOTE: Payment will be made in Japanese Yen up to the value of AUD10,000 (no Goods and Services Tax applicable) for academics/researchers who are based in Japan. The exchange rate of the date of the payment will be applied. The payment in Japanese yen may differ from what is anticipated at the time of the application submission due to fluctuations in the exchange rate.

In answering the following questions, it is important to remember that applicants for a Publication Award will be selected on the basis of (i) the quality, viability and long-term relevance of the research project to be undertaken before June 2021; (ii) the extent to which this publication will contribute to and strengthen the level of knowledge and understanding of the Australia-Japan relationship; and (iii) the commitment of the author to disseminate and promote the publication widely, effectively and actively through academic and other relevant channels.

If you are unsure about whether your topic will be suitable under this Award, please contact the AJF Secretariat Tokyo, Australian Embassy in Tokyo by email at ajf.japan@dfat.gov.au

Each applicant (individual or organisation) may submit one application per round. However, Australia-Japan Foundation will accept multiple applications from different areas/business units of large organisations such as universities. Different areas/business units should seek to ensure that their proposed applications align with their institution's international strategies and are required to confirm this through a letter of support from their Research Office or equivalent.

Will your organisation be applying for more than one grant? *

Attach a short letter of support from your Research Office or equivalent. *

This letter should explain how the planned project results align with joint priorities identified with equivalent institutions in the partner country, for instance, how the project supports active engagement under a Memorandum of Understanding.

If you are an individual from a large organisation, your application will be more competitive if you have your organisation's support as demonstrated by a letter of support from your organisation's research office or equivalent.

Gender, Diversity and Inclusion

The Australia-Japan Foundation encourages diversity and inclusion across a spectrum of dimensions including gender, race and ethnicity, physical abilities, age and sexual orientation. In this section, we want you to show that you have considered diversity in designing your project/program and how you will know if you have succeeded. This can include being proactive in ensuring balanced gender representation in your project's beneficiaries where equal gender representation of your eventual beneficiaries would show that you have succeeded. Alternately, if your program/project targets only one gender, you can explain your rationale here.

NOTE: While the Australia-Japan Foundation will still consider your proposal if it does not address 'gender, diversity and inclusion', we strongly encourage you to consider these issues.

In your acquittal report, you will be asked for a report on this.

Monitoring project results

How will you know if these results have been achieved? *

Word count:

Detail the monitoring plan for your project. Outline how project results will be measured and recorded, including media coverage (questionnaires, surveys, interviews, etc). Must be no more than 150 words.

Most Significant Change

FOR NOTING: Past grantees have found it useful to know in advance that in your project acquittal report to the Australia-Japan Foundation, successful grantess will be asked to identify the most significant change (positive or negative) that you observed in the Australia-Japan relationship and that you believe occured as a direct result of your project. You will be invited to provide your rationale for identifying those particular changes.

Public Outreach and protection interactions. The type of qualitative information we expect would include the depth of information provided, number and appropriateness of the target audience. This will help inform our assessment of your project's impact. Outlining your publicity goals here will inform the assessment of your application against our objectives. You will also be required to report on when and where Australia-Japan Foundation support was acknowledged (including use of the logo) throughout your project.

What publicity is intended to extend the reach of your project and how will you acknowledge Australia-Japan Foundation support throughout your project? *

Word count:

Must be no more than 200 words.

Include a description of the planned activities of key stakeholders, representatives and the local community listed below in 'Activities' and why you expect this level of engagement. Include details of when and where Australia-Japan Foundation support will be acknowledged.

Activities

Your grant proposal should demonstrate how your project will promote people-to-people links, a contemporary and positive image of Australia, and support for the Australian Government's international policy goals.

To do this, you should specify the types of events planned and the expected attendance or participation at these events. Examples of events are public seminars, media engagements, promotional events, performances, exhibition days or community events.

NOTE: If you are successful, you will be asked to provide an online Communications Outline (a media/communications strategy) through SmartyGrants where you will need to provide the details of your planned activities. This is important information for the AJF in order to help promote projects.

Photograph or Infograph

An image significantly increases the impact of a project's publicity. To assist the Australia-Japan Foundation's assessment of your project's publicity/public outreach potential, you are asked to provide an image that is representative or which captures the flavour of your project. This can include a photo of a previous related activity, a mock-up of a publication cover, a logo, an infograph etc. Photos or graphics attached here should have a resolution of 300 dpi and be at least 1.5MB in file size. NOTE: If you are successful, you will be asked to provide an image in your Communications Outline (refer to previous NOTE above).

The Australia-Japan Foundation will only use this photo or image for application assessment purposes. The image will not be used for publication purposes without your prior consent.

For information, the Australia-Japan Foundation publishes photographs in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988.

The Privacy Act 1988 governs the way 'personal information' is collected, used and disclosed in Australia and overseas. Images of individuals are considered to be 'personal information' if the person's identity is clear, or can reasonably be ascertained from the image. This information can only be published if the individual has given consent or would have been aware that the information may be disclosed publicly.

Written consent of individuals appearing in a photograph is necessary to publish that photograph in the following circumstances:

- where the image is not taken in a 'public place', that is, in situations where persons would have a reasonable expectation of privacy, especially where the identity of the person can be established
- where children have been photographed, and they are not in a public place, and their identity can be established, parental consent will be required.

Where written consent is required, the subject of the photograph, or a parent/guardian in the case of minors, should be asked to sign a consent for the use of images form. This link also provides guidelines on ethical photography.

Working with Children

DFAT considers a child to be a person under the age of 18 years. DFAT's Child Protection Policy provides a framework for protecting children from exploitation and abuse in the delivery of projects supported by DFAT. The Policy is available here.

Will your project involve working with children? *

An example code of conduct on Child Protection is provided within DFAT's Child Protection Policy. If you or your organisation would like further information, contact childprotection@dfat.gov.au or on +61 2 6178 5100, ideally well in advance of the grants round closing date.

IMPORTANT: If your grant application is successful, you will need to provide a copy of your child protection guidelines. Your guidelines will need to be cleared by DFAT's Child Protection Policy area BEFORE a Funding Agreement is offered to you or your organisation.

Multiyear Funding

Multiyear funding (up to three years) may be considered by the Board where a strong case has been given to demonstrate that a program addresses a specific need, is particularly worthwhile, sustainable and able to advance the Australia-Japan relationship.

In the event that the Board does not agree with your assessment for multiyear funding and if you wish your grant proposal to be considered further, please describe how you would reduce the scale of your project to fit within the standard AJF grant range of a one year project and specify the amount sought.

Do you want your project to be considered for multiyear funding? *

Does your project involve grant payments, or tranches, over multiple years? *

Referees

* indicates a required field

Please attach one page letters of support from two referees with no direct financial interest in this project. Referees should comment on the project's objectives and the strategies to achieve them. The two referees would ideally provide different perspectives on the proposal and would work for different organisations.

Note: It is the applicant's responsibility to contact referees and ensure that their signed reports are received/attached to this application prior to submission by the grant round closing date.

Applications will not be considered for funding without the nominated referees' written reports attached. Un-signed referees' reports will not be accepted.

The Australia-Japan Foundation reserves the right to seek advice on the application from other persons as appropriate.
